Definition of household: Family of one is a person who may be the only one living in a housing unit or who may be living in a housing unit in which one or more persons also live, but are not related to the applicant by marriage, birth or adoption. For example, people who live with others include a lodger, a foster child, a ward or an employee. A family of two or more persons includes people who are related by marriage, birth or adoption who live together; all such related persons are thought of as members of one family; an unmarried couple with a mutual child; and same-sex couples who are married. If a household includes more than one unrelated family, the poverty guidelines are applied separately to each family and not to the household as a whole. Sometimes, a copy of a divorce decree or court documents proving legal separation may be required. If married, but not living together, income documents will be required from both people.

Definition of income: Income is how much everyone who lives in the household makes, before taxes are taken out, from all sources (gross income).

Income data for a part of a year may be figured based on what might have been received in an entire year to determine eligibility — for instance, by multiplying the amount of income received during the most recent three months by four.
